Day trip Manhattan Beach

Why go now: This is the summer spot for big waves, white-sand beaches, pro surfers, and volleyball fanatics. Event not to miss: International Surf Festival (Jul 31–Aug 2; Manhattan Beach Pier; surffestival.org). Orientation: MB is one of three major South Bay beach towns, along with Hermosa Beach and Redondo Beach. Dress code: Board shorts and flip-flops. Flip a coin: According to town history, developer John Merrill named the beach for his New York hometown after winning a coin toss in 1902. More local lore: Waikiki Beach is made up of white sand shipped over from MB's sand dunes. For beachy style: A Summer Place (1401 Highland Ave.; 310/545-7080), for scented soaps and linen place-mats. Afternoon snack: Crispy asparagus tempura at Sashi sushi and sake lounge ($$; 451 Manhattan Beach Blvd.; 310/545-0400). Walk it off: The Strand is a 20-mile paved path along the beach. For a challenge, try walking the 100-foot-high sandy slope at Sand Dune Park (members of the L.A. Kings sometimes train here).

1. On the pier

For nearly 90 years, the Manhattan Beach Pier has stretched 928 feet into the ocean, with coastal views all the way north to Malibu. The red-roofed Roundhouse Marine Studies Lab and Aquarium sits at the pier's end, with a 3,500-gallon shark tank holding species native to Santa Monica Bay—leopard, swell, and horn sharks. 3 p.m.–sunset Fri, 10 a.m.–sunset Sat–Sun; $2–$4 donation suggested; roundhouseaquarium.org

Day trip

2. The thrill of a surf show

Surfers come from all over to ride the big waves at North Manhattan Beach (also known as El Porto). This spot has some of the largest waves in the South Bay, luring die-hard surfers mornings and early evenings. Pack a picnic and snag a front-row seat on the beach, or opt for a shaded spot under an umbrella at nearby Alfredo's Beach Club (alfredosbeachclub.com). Beach parking at the end of 45th St.; surf report at surfline.com

Take home a treat

At Cake Bakeshop, a classic American bakery, take your pick of yummy short-bread cookies, coconut macaroons, red velvet cake, Black Magic bars, and brown-sugar bourbon pound cake. Using organic ingredients (and recipes passed on from the owners' grandmothers), everything is baked on-site. 3319 Highland Ave.; 310/545-2253.

3. Where the locals lunch

The terrace at Zinc Lounge in the Shade Hotel is good for people-watching—its seafoam-hued curtains frame a view of Metlox Plaza, one of the town hubs. Try the blackened fish tacos served with fresh guacamole and chips. On a warm afternoon, order the Asian Breeze, with litchi vodka, grapefruit juice, and guava nectar. $$; 7 a.m.–11 p.m.; 1221 N. Valley Dr.; 310/546-4995.

4. Best beach decor

Batik cotton linens by John Robshaw, botanical-printed coasters, capiz shell chandeliers, vintage ceramic table lamps, and outdoor patio tables and chairs by Janus et Cie are just a few of the beach-inspired finds at Waterleaf Interiors. Owners and interior designers Suzanne Ascher and Jill Johnson also do custom reupholstering. 1210 Morningside Dr.; 310/545-3175.

Getting there

To reach Manhattan Beach from I-405, exit on Rosecrans Ave. and head west to Highland Ave. INFO citymb.info

3 other cool-off spots in and around the South Bay

HERMOSA BEACH

A 15- to 20-minute walk south along the Strand from Manhattan Beach is Hermosa Beach's Pier Avenue. Nearly a dozen bars and eateries are set along the plaza, but our favorites are Sangria Restaurant ($$; 310/376-4412), for its outdoor patio and salty margaritas, and Mermaid Restaurant ($$; 310/374-9344), for the old-school local dive-bar vibe and ocean views.

REDONDO BEACH

About a mile south of the Hermosa Beach Pier, Marina Bike Rentals (505 N. Harbor Dr.; 310/318-2453) has a large selection of cruiser bikes and in-line skates. Continue south to pick up the bike path along the beach, or travel a mile farther to South Redondo Beach's Riviera Village (rivieravillage.org), lined with breweries and beach-inspired boutiques.

MARINA DEL REY

For an on-the-water experience 15 minutes north of Manhattan Beach, UCLA Marina Aquatic Center offers three-hour kayak classes. The course includes instruction in the marina or the ocean, a kayak, gear, and wetsuit. Taste of Sea kayak clinics $35; reservations required; 14001 Fiji Way; marinaaquaticcenter.org
